

Occupational Health

Supporting the needs of employers and workers

Accidents—and injuries—happen. Some are minor, some more severe. For those injuries that prevent workers from returning to the job right away, there's Kaiser Permanente Occupational Health. For nearly 30 years, we've been helping injured employees get back to their livelihood as soon as possible.

Specialists in injury care

We specialize in injury care provided by board-certified occupational medicine doctors* and specially trained providers—all part of the Washington State Department of Labor and Industries' Medical Provider Network. What's more, our case managers excel at keeping you informed of your employee's progress.

Our occupational medicine teams operate at 11 locations across the Puget Sound and one in Spokane. Your workers can get all their care—work-related injury care, physical therapy, X-ray, lab, and pharmacy—under one roof.

Exams and other services

In addition to injury care, our Occupational Health offers medical screenings, commercial driver medical exams, employment exams—including post-offer and return-to-work—and drug and alcohol testing. In short, whatever you need to make sure your employees are cleared to work.

Kaiser Permanente Occupational Health

- Work-related injury care
- Employment exams
- Commercial driver medical exams (providers on federal DOT registry)
- Drug and alcohol testing
- Immunizations

Not a member? Not a problem.

Your injured workers don't have to be covered by a Kaiser Permanente health plan to receive occupational health services at our 11 locations.

A CENTER OF OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND EDUCATION

As one of only six Centers of Occupational Health and Education (COHE) in the state, Kaiser Permanente (formerly Group Health) employs occupational health best practices and works effectively to improve injured worker's health and reduce disability. The result? Your workers will be able to get back to work in a safe, timely manner.
