A wellness coach gives you personal support to help you reach your specific health goals. And you can check in with your coach regularly to get the help you need to stay on track.

Q: What is a wellness coach?

A: A wellness coach is someone who can help you identify your motivation, build your confidence, and make healthy lifestyle changes. Your coach is specially trained to help you break through barriers that may have held you back in the past. All our coaches are health education professionals skilled in motivational counseling. And they're trained to provide coaching services based on clinical guidelines and adult learning theory.

Q: What topics can I get coached on?

A: Wellness coaching can help you quit tobacco, reduce stress, increase activity, manage your weight, and eat healthier.¹

Q: How does wellness coaching work?

A: You can make an appointment with a wellness coach by calling 1-866-862-4295, Monday through Friday from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Pacific time. No referral is needed. During your first appointment, your coach will ask you questions about your health, and help you assess your confidence and motivation to make healthy changes.

You'll choose the health topic you want to focus on, figure out if you're ready to make changes, and start setting goals for improving your health. Your coach can also connect you with other Kaiser Permanente resources that can help you reach your goals, including classes at our facilities and online wellness programs. (Some classes may require a fee.)

You can schedule your follow-up appointments when it's convenient for you. Throughout the program, your coach will help you understand your strengths and build on them. You'll also become aware of potential obstacles to your success and learn how to overcome them.
